BLACK SALT QUEEN

SAMANTHA BANSIL

An epic fantasy that oozes with political intrigue, forbidden romance, and dangerous ambition

Hara Duja Gatdula, queen of the island nation of Maynara, holds the divine power to move the earth. But her strength is failing and the line of succession gives her little comfort. Her heir, Laya, is a danger—a petty and passionate princess who wields the enormous power of the skies with fickle indifference. Circling the throne is Imeria Kulaw—the matriarch of a traitorous rival family who wields recklessly enhanced powers of her own—with designs to secure a high-ranking position for her son and claim the crown for her family. Each woman has a secret weakness—a lover, a heartbreak, a lie. But each is willing to pay the steepest price to bring down her rivals once and for all.

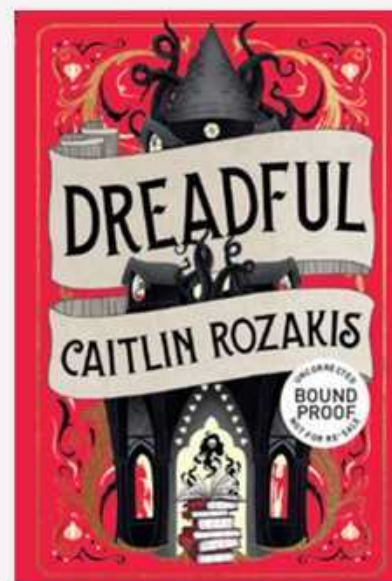

FANTASY

KEY SELLING POINTS

Filled with passion, romance, betrayal, and divine magic, BLACK SALT QUEEN journeys to a gorgeous precolonial island nation where women—and secrets—reign.

A high-stakes clash between three formidable women, each wielding immense elemental magic and deadly ambitions.

A tale of love, lies, and ruthless ambition where no one is safe, and the price of power is everything.

DREADFUL

CAITLIN ROZAKIS

A sharp-witted, high fantasy farce featuring killer moat squid, toxic masculinity, evil wizards and a garlic festival.

It's bad enough waking up in a half-destroyed evil wizard's workshop with no eyebrows, no memories, and no idea how long you have before the Dread Lord Whomever shows up to murder you horribly and then turn your skull into a goblet or something. It's a lot worse when you realize that Dread Lord Whomever is... you.

Gav isn't really sure how he ended up with a castle full of goblins, or why he has a princess locked in a cell. All he can do is play along with his own evil plan in hopes of getting his memories back before he gets himself killed.

But as he realizes that nothing - from the incredibly tasteless cloak adorned with flames to the aforementioned princess - is quite what it seems, Gav must face up to all the things the Dread Lord Gavrax has done. And he'll have to answer the hardest question of all - who does he want to be?

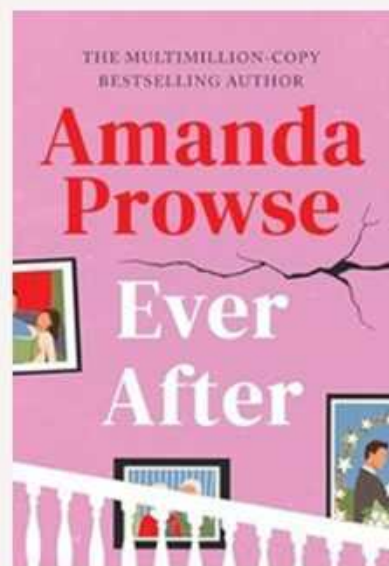

ADULT FANTASY

KEY SELLING POINTS

Experience a fresh blend of humor and fantasy, with goblins, a locked princess, and outrageous magical mishaps.

Dive into a journey of self-discovery as Gav confronts his past actions and chooses who he truly wants to be.

Dreadful is a New York Times bestseller and acclaimed adult fantasy perfect for fans of T. Kingfisher, K. J. Parker and Travis Baldree.

EVER AFTER

AMANDA PROWSE

A poignant story about the pull of the life you once thought was ahead of you and the hope that comes from new beginnings

Enya's life has become small. Her husband's death has left her bereft, and though she's only in her early fifties, she's happiest looking after her son, Aiden, his childhood sweetheart, Holly, and her beloved cat, Pickle. So the spark she feels for the stranger who bumps into her car in the airport car park is a complete shock. But Enya can't stop thinking about him. Then, when Aiden makes a life-changing decision, Enya suddenly finds her close-knit community thrown into chaos. Her best friend, Jenny, isn't speaking to her, Aiden's future hangs in the balance, Holly is devastated, and the stranger from the car park is suddenly in her life. Torn between family, love and loyalty, Enya faces a dilemma: stay safely where she is, or take a leap into the unknown? Because maybe her happily-ever-after could have one more chapter yet . . .

IN ANOTHER LIFE

IMOGEN CLARK

From the million copy bestselling author of An Unwanted Inheritance comes a novel that asks: how big a lie would you tell to protect the ones you love?

At the funeral of Loretta Ashton, pillar of the local community, it's standing room only. But her grieving husband and children are startled to see a stranger sitting in the family seats. The woman tells them she's Loretta's sister, then vanishes. But Loretta was an only child. The others are adamant the woman is a fraud, but Loretta's daughter Bronte is intrigued and starts to dig deeper. Why do they know nothing of Loretta's life before she met their father? And how could she possibly be linked to a family in Sicily a lifetime ago? Has their mother been living a lie for decades? Bronte is determined to find out—even if it means questioning her mother's loyalty to her family, and potentially destroying the life she's always known

LOCAL HEAVENS

K.M. FAJARDO

A brilliant cyberpunk reimagining of The Great Gatsby with incredible world-building.

New York City, 2075. Filipino-American Nick Carraway meets alluring new-money Jay Gatsby, and he falls for Gatsby's frank charm and confident aura. But in a city where the wealthy flaunt tech-enhanced bodies to cheat death, surfaces aren't all they see, and as a corporate-sanctioned cyberspace hacker, Nick knows that no secret can stay buried forever.

As Nick becomes entangled in the dark affairs of the elite—and the devastating fallout of their actions on the city's most vulnerable—he must reckon with the limits of compassion and accountability across class and status. What takes precedence: Love, or truth? Heart, or soul?

A brilliant reimagining of Fitzgerald's classic tale of glamour, desire, and desperation, Local Heavens examines the guardrails of morality...and the price of desire.

AMANDA COLOMBO

All it takes is books and three friends to find the strength to start over.

This heartwarming debut novel celebrates friendship, resilience, and the power of books. After a painful loss, Bianca returns to her childhood town, where she reconnects with her cherished memories at the local bookstore, La stanza di Virginia. When the elderly owner announces its closure, Bianca steps in to help, learning the art of bookselling while rediscovering herself. With the support of her two best friends — each battling their own struggles— Bianca begins to heal and embrace a new chapter in life.

Drawing on Amanda Colombo's experience as a bookseller, this touching story is a tribute to bookstores as sanctuaries for the soul and to the unbreakable bonds of friendship.

SON OF NOBODY

YANN MARTEL

A singularly ambitious, creatively adventurous novel that draws on history, the imagination, and Homer's Iliad to offer a fresh and original take on the Trojan War and on the conflicts and losses incurred in the quest for a meaningful life

Psoas of Midea, a goatherd's son, leaves his family to help Menelaus reclaim Helen, only for his story to be lost in history. Thirty centuries later, a scholar at Oxford discovers fragments of a forgotten Trojan War epic, The Psoad, and begins to piece together Psoas's tale.

Son of Nobody alternates between the ancient epic and the scholar's commentary, offering a new perspective on the Trojan War and exploring themes of war, loss, and personal sacrifice. Through its inventive structure, Martel blends mythology with contemporary reflections on human folly.

SUSIN NIELSEN

A laugh-out-loud, rollicking novel about the consequences of being pushed to the edge and plummeting right over it.

Frances Partridge, 55, is a beloved children's author. Geraint Blevins, 41, is an auto mechanic and devoted family man. Parker Poplawski, 23, is just starting her career as a wardrobe assistant on a hit TV show. What do these people have in common? Nothing, that's what. Until each of them reaches a breaking point and snaps in spectacular fashion. They meet in a court-mandated anger management class: Three very different people forced to spend a lot of time together who slowly end up bonding and helping one another in unexpected ways, whether it's to move on or to exact revenge. Lighthearted, timely, and funny, Snap is Nielsen at the top of her storytelling game, delivering flawed but relatable characters whose heartaches, foibles, and choices will make you cringe as you laugh out loud

JEFF WHEELER

A mortal sorcerer sets out to defy the dark magic of an ancient race awakening to wage war on mortals in an epic fantasy of adventure and love.

Millennia ago, the magical Aesir settled on a distant world, hibernating through ice ages and awakening to find mortals encroaching on their land. Now, they rise once more—this time to exterminate their enemies for good. Robinson Hawksley, an elocutionist at the Invisible College, trains sorcerers to defend against the Aesir's growing threat. His newest student, McKenna Foster, lost her hearing to a plague unleashed by the Aesir but possesses a unique magical potential. As they work together, an inexplicable connection to the Aesir emerges—one that defies time and the very fabric of magic itself. With war looming and the Aesir launching their assault, Robinson and McKenna must unravel the secrets of their bond and harness their magic before the cycle of destruction becomes irreversible.

BETTY CORRELLO

A delightfully funny, beautiful rom-com that explores what it means to be vulnerable, especially when living with chronic illness

Nadia Fabiola moves into her parents' beach house in Evergreen, NJ, after losing her job, her boyfriend (who was also her boss), and struggling with a recent Lupus diagnosis. Her doctor sets her up with his handsome cousin, Marco Antoniou, and though skeptical, she agrees to one date.

After a rocky start, they agree to a "Sweet November" arrangement—one month of dating, no commitments. As their connection deepens, Nadia hides her illness, wanting a break from it.

But as May 31st nears, and Nadia's feelings ramp up, so do her Lupus symptoms. A sudden hospitalization threatens to end things before she can tell Marco what's going on with her, she has to come to terms with the fact that her Sweet November might be over before she has a chance to find out what could've been.

JUNE KAYE

A tornado warning and a magazine quiz bring an unlikely pair together in this meet-cute romance debut.

Nora is struggling with a corporate job that leaves her no time for family and the aftermath of an ill-advised hookup with a colleague who she discovered had a girlfriend. With a tornado warning on the news, Nora's prepared to hunker down alone for the storm with wine and a good book, until a beguiling (and admittedly handsome) British man shows up at her door. Aiden tries to stay under the publicity radar after starring in a string of popular movies. So when Nora doesn't recognize him, begrudgingly letting him inside her home to shelter in place only after confirming he's an old friend of her landlord, he's relieved by the chance to be himself without the dynamics of celebrity. As they settle in, what starts as jokingly killing time answering questions for a silly magazine quiz turns into an evening of raw and meaningful discussion and blossoming feelings. But their new bond will be tested as soon as the sun peeks out. When Nora finally realizes who Aiden is, can their connection survive the storm?

'From Betrayal to Redemption: Iris and Roman's Unexpected Romantic Adventure in a Shared Paradise.'

The day of her wedding, elementary school teacher Iris learns that her fiancé has been cheating on her. Instead of wallowing in grief, Iris devises a plan for revenge with the help of her best friend that unfortunately goes viral and makes her seem like an unhinged mess. When Iris flees to the Hawaiian bungalow that was meant to be her honeymoon suite, she is shocked to find it already occupied by a very hot, very mysterious man has somehow double-booked the same room.

Roman is a famous NFL quarterback incognito. Despite their initial shock, they develop a strong physical connection. However, they face challenges: Roman risks his reputation and family life, while Iris must decide if she can handle the spotlight of Roman's career after her own negative experience with fame.

LIAR'S KINGDOM

CHRISTINE CALELLA

Can “happily-ever-after” start with a lie?

Ell DeBrun is the girl of the cinders. The girl who's spent years slaving away for her cruel stepmother and ungrateful stepsisters, dreaming of rescue. So when Prince Bayard—who seems to have difficulty recognizing faces—shows up at her door with a glass slipper in hand, Ell allows him to believe she is the girl he danced with at the grand ball. There's just one problem: Ell didn't attend the ball and she's never met the prince before in her life. But if it's a choice between being whisked away to the royal palace and staying trapped with her miserable stepfamily, Ell is willing to concoct any fairytale that will grant her an escape. However, Ell finds that fitting into royal life isn't as easy as sliding into a glass slipper. Bayard's sister, the crown princess, has gone missing. The king is preparing for war with the sinister army of fae. And Maxim, Bayard's treacherous (and unfortunately, terribly handsome) best friend, appears to know Ell's secrets—and is just waiting for the most advantageous moment to call her bluff. As her lies pile up like unwashed plates, she knows they're only seconds away from crashing down on her head.

JESSE Q. SUTANTO

An aching, winding, unforgettable love story—exploring the love of sisters, of place, of soulmates, and the sacrifices one must make for those we care about most.

When 73-year-old matriarch Magnolia Chen sweeps into the family celebration with a woman on her arm that she introduces as her girlfriend, shockwaves ripple through the room. Many of the Chens are outraged. But her 16-year-old granddaughter Izzy, black sheep of the younger Chen generation, is far more intrigued than angry, as Izzy wonders about her own identity and place in the world. Later that evening when Izzy steals out of the house for her nightly walk—the only thing keeping her sane—she discovers Magnolia waiting for her.

They walk together, and Magnolia begins to tell Izzy a story. Her story—of being sent from Indonesia to Los Angeles at the age of 16 to attend community college, no parents, just a prickly older sister, Iris, who seems to want nothing to do with Magnolia. Then, she meets Ellery O'Shea: her best friend, her safe space, the love of her life.

THE BIG FIX

HOLLY JAMES

A modern blend of screwball action and romantic attraction when a case of mistaken identity lands a college professor on the run with a mysterious—and dangerously hot—fixer.

When bookish Penny lets her sister drag her to an estate sale, she's hoping for a little diversion rummaging through antiques. Instead, she ends up in a public squabble over candlesticks with the deceased owner's nephew, Anthony—right before a dead body tumbles out of a closet.

Penny's plan for the summer involved finalizing tenure at the university where she's a computer sciences professor. It seems the wrong people have got it in their heads that she's Anthony's girlfriend, in possession of something they desperately need.

As for Anthony, he has a top-secret occupation as a fixer—in addition to a set of impossibly ripped abs. But a recent fix went dangerously awry, and now he and Penny are dodging both a ruthless billionaire and the FBI. And it'll take all of Penny's plentiful savvy and common sense, in addition to Anthony's particular set of skills, to survive long enough for her to see the next semester.

BEAUTIFUL THINGS

A young woman is determined to avoid marriage but finds herself entangled with three captivating men instead.

In Regency England, 22-year-old Rosalie is unmarried, nearly destitute, and faced with two unappealing choices: secure a wealthy husband or work as a governess. When she receives an invitation to Alcott Hall, she believes she's meeting an old family friend—only to find herself caught in a high-society house party where ambitious ladies compete for the hand of a newly single duke. Determined to avoid the marriage trap, Rosalie instead finds herself drawn to three very different men—charming Lord James, the duke's younger brother; gallant Lieutenant Renley, fresh from the West Indies; and the exasperating yet irresistible Mr. Burke. As the ball approaches and the duke's decision nears, Rosalie must navigate love, freedom, and the expectations of society. She refuses to be caught—but that doesn't mean she won't enjoy the chase. DAUGHTER OF GENOA

KAT DEVERAUX

In Nazi-occupied Italy, keeping secrets could be deadly...

Genoa, 1944: Widowed and alone, Anna Pastorino has been surviving on her wits since the Germans invaded. The daughter of a prominent Jewish antifascist, Anna lives a hidden life in her small flat near the harbour... until an RAF bomb destroys her only shelter.

When a Jesuit priest approaches her offering help, she has no choice but to accept. She follows her new friend, Father Vittorio, to a safe house above a printers' shop in a quiet street near via Assarotti. But the Tipografi a Guichard is more than just a refuge. It's a forgery workshop: a key part of the secret rescue operation headed by Massimo Teglio, the "Scarlet Pimpernel" of Genoa's persecuted Jewish population.

Drawn into a world of clandestine resistance, Anna discovers a new sense of purpose, a circle of friends, and a passion that brings her alive. Soon, the little flat above the shop holds more secrets than anyone could imagine. As Anna grows closer to both Teglio and Vittorio, she must confront a past trauma of her own: a secret that might endanger her and everyone she loves.

THE LIES THEY TOLD

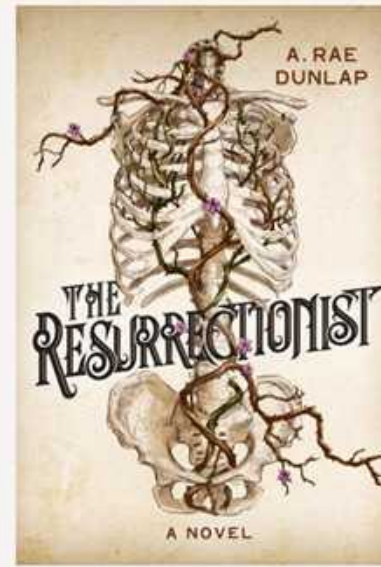

ELLEN MARIE WISEMAN

New York Times–bestselling author Wiseman returns with her latest historical fiction.

Told through the eyes of an unforgettable heroine, this powerful novel sheds light on one of the darkest chapters of the early 20th century.

When widowed Silas reluctantly brings immigrant Lena and her daughter to his remote mountain home, she struggles to adjust. Though the hills of Wolfe Hollow remind her of Germany, she soon discovers a disturbing reality—the children in her care have been taught to hide from the sheriff, and the government is working to displace their community, deeming them unfit.

Lena's fears become reality when a social worker from the Eugenics Office falsely accuses her of promiscuity and feeble-mindedness. Sent to the Colony for the Feeble-minded and Epileptics, she faces heartbreaking choices in her fight to reunite with her daughter and protect the land and people she has come to love. A gripping tale of resilience and injustice, this novel explores a woman's struggle for agency in a world determined to silence her.

THE RESURRECTIONIST

A. RAE DUNLAP

A macabre, dark and twisty gothic novel set in 19th century Scotland – when real-life serial killers Burke and Hare terrorized the streets of Edinburgh – as a young medical student is lured into the illicit underworld of body snatching

James Willoughby has abandoned his life at Oxford to pursue his dream of studying surgery in Edinburgh. The city's university offers everything James desires—except the chance to work on a human cadaver. For that, he needs to join one of the private schools in Surgeon's Square, which he cannot afford. In desperation, he strikes a deal with Nye, a dissectionist with an artist's eye for anatomy. Nye promises to help him gain the surgical experience he craves—but it doesn't take long for James to realize he's made a devil's bargain.

Nye is a body snatcher. And James has become his accomplice. Intoxicated by Nye and his noble mission to learn and educate, James rapidly descends into the underground ranks of the Resurrectionists—the grave robbers infamous for stealing fresh corpses. Before he knows it, James is caught up in a life-or-death scheme as rival gangs of snatchers compete in a morbid race.

ERRANDS & ESPIONAGE

SAM TSCHIDA

A recently divorced housewife is recruited by the CIA to complete a mission

Recently divorced Gabby Greene spends her days listening to self-help books while managing her lovable yet chaotic kids and dealing with the mystery of missing socks, suspecting their frisky Bichon Frise, Mr. Bubbles. Everything changes when a secret government agency knocks on her door, claiming they need her to go undercover to complete a mission started by a now-deceased agent who looks just like her. Initially skeptical, Gabby is motivated by being underestimated to take the plunge and accept the challenge.

As she steps into the shoes of agent Darcy Dagger, hilarity ensues while Gabby juggles her family responsibilities and a crash course in Spy 101 with a charming, mysterious partner. Her dangerous mission involves money laundering, a Russian oligarch, and an unfortunate incident with a prosthetic nose, leading Gabby to discover she is far from the invisible housewife she thought she was —she might just be capable of saving the day.

MEMORY

OLIVIA WAITE

A Memory Called Empire meets Miss Marple in this sci-fi ode to the cozy mystery, helmed by a no-nonsense formidable auntie of a detective

Near the topmost deck of an interstellar generation ship, Dorothy Gentleman wakes up in a body that isn't hers—just as someone else is found murdered. As one of the ship's detectives, Dorothy usually delights in unraveling the schemes on board the Fairweather, but when she finds that someone is not only killing bodies but purposefully deleting minds from the Library, she realizes something even more sinister is afoot.

Dorothy intends to solve this case. Because someone has done the impossible and found a way to make murder on the Fairweather a very permanent state indeed. A mastermind may be at work—and if so, they've had 300 years to perfect their schemes....

ROMANTIC FRICTION

LORI ANNE GOLDSTEIN

When a bestselling fantasy romance author learns another author has used AI to write like her she bands with her fellow authors to preserve their art the only way they can...by committing a felony.

Sophie Wilde's bestselling fantasy romance series is set to conclude at the world's largest romance convention, where she's headlining. But her spotlight is stolen by debut author Hartley West, who admits to using AI to create a novel in Sophie's style. Instead of being canceled, Hartley is praised for her innovation, and Sophie's fury only grows after losing her keynote spot to her.

As the convention kicks off, Sophie rallies fellow authors, worried about AI threatening their careers. With time running out, Sophie devises a plan to stop Hartley from taking the stage, vowing: "The next Sophie Wilde? Over my dead body. Or hers."

SARA DRISCOLL

Timely standalone thriller following a woman who offers relationship advice online as she learns just how dangerous online anonymity can be.

Chicago physical therapist Krista finds that her clients rely on her personal advice just as much as on her hands-on work, so why not share it on the live-stream gaming platform Twitch? Her friend Holly is willing to help Krista build her presence and cohost a biweekly show. Taking real-time questions from chat participants proves more popular than Krista thought possible, and their follower count—and income—grow. But not all attention is wanted. An account with the username Chase547 becomes enraged when Krista and Holly suggest he stop pursuing a woman who constantly rebuffs him. Unnerved by Chase547's obsession, Krista turns to law enforcement, but the little information she's able to give isn't enough to start an investigation. Soon, Krista notices things missing at home and feels as if she's being watched. And when Chase547 begins to leave clues in real life proving what he's capable of, she begins to fear for her safety.

SMOKE KINGS

JAHMAL MAYFIELD

A feast of noir fiction and probing social commentary that asks us to consider what would happen if reparations were finally charged and exacted.

Smoke Kings is a gripping thriller that blurs the line between justice and revenge. After his cousin's murder, young Black activist Nate Evers refuses to settle for murals and hashtags. Instead, he and three friends take action—kidnapping the descendants of racist perpetrators and forcing them to pay reparations.

For some, it's justice. For Nate, it's revenge. But when they target the wrong man, they find themselves hunted by a ruthless white supremacist and a lawman with his own dangerous biases. As their mission spirals out of control, they must face the cost of vengeance—and the truth that before you embark on a journey of revenge, dig two graves.

TELL THEM YOU LIED

LAURA LEFFLER

Two New York artists' tumultuous friendship gets turned on its head when one of them goes missing and the other may be to blame.

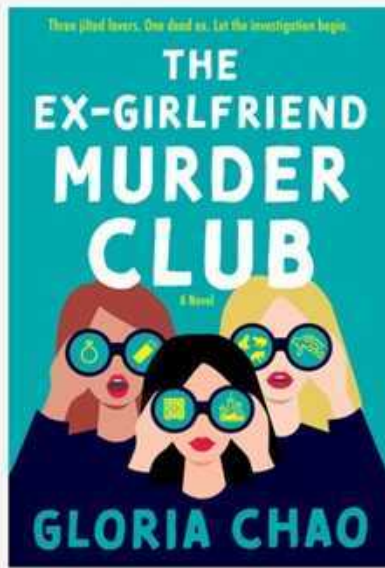

Anna had never met anyone like Willow. Entering art school with lofty ideas about Art and her role in it, Anna was completely unprepared for someone as mysterious and cool as Willow. She was both Anna's muse and collaborator. Now, five years later, Anna is exhausted, the New York art scene is all about survival. Worse, Willow's true nature—as a muse only to herself—has become painfully clear, as has her cruelty. That's why Anna has staged a mugging for Willow this morning. It's meant to scare her, to push her back toward her real friend. The knife is supposed to be a mirror, forcing this so-called artist to see the monster she's become. But this morning isn't just any Tuesday. It's September 11, 2001. And as the city is thrown into chaos, Willow never comes home. Anna stays silent about her prank, even as panic grows that she might be responsible for Willow's disappearance. As the hours and days pass, she starts to wonder whether she was the mastermind all along—or just a pawn.

THE FORGER'S INK

JO MAZELIS

An extraordinary take on the classic gothic novel by Jerwood Fiction Uncovered prize-winner Jo Mazelis.

It's the 1970s, and a mysterious woman has a cache of letters to sell. They claim to tell the story of the death of Fanny Imlay, half-sister of Mary Shelley and daughter of Mary Wollstonecraft. Did Fanny really commit suicide in an inn in Swansea in 1816, as historians thought? The letters instead suggest a faked death and an escape from Fanny's fraught family life. It could have been an independence of which Fanny's mother would have been proud. But the letters also suggest the re-born Fanny remained misunderstood, mis-used and rejected, in the manner of Mary Shelley's Frankenstein's monster.

The intertwining narratives reflect on each other as the mysteries multiply and resolve. Gothic body-swaps, dark mansions and unexpected deaths merge with seventies politics and feminism to reveal the lives of two women, historically different yet in many ways the same.

SOPHIE BUCHAILLARD

A gripping story of two women, and the cost of family secrets. It is also a thought-provoking narrative of how history impacts on the individual.

Iris and Victoria are pen-pals. One day Victoria's letters from Rwanda suddenly stop. In Paris, Iris can only wonder why. Through her father's work she knows a terrible genocide has taken place. Still haunted twenty years later by the loss of her pen-friend, Iris - now a journalist in London - pitches a story to her editor: she will try to find Victoria. The past twenty years for Victoria have been ones of migration, to Goma, Paris and finally London, and of starting a new life. As she makes her way, her past catches up in the shape of her genocide-supporting brother. Meanwhile, the more Iris looks the more her own past looms. What was her father's role in Rwanda? Are her childhood memories more fiction than fact? Why is she looking for Victoria, really?

ELIOT STEIN

A vivid look at 10 astonishing people who are maintaining some of the world's oldest and rarest cultural traditions.

Eliot Stein has traveled the globe in search of remarkable people who are preserving some of our most extraordinary cultural rites.

Climbing through Peru's southern highlands, he encounters the last Inca bridge master who rebuilds a grass-woven bridge every year from the fabled Inca Road System. He befriends a British beekeeper who maintains a touching custom of "telling the bees" important news of the day. And he crunches through a German forest to find the official mailman of the only tree in the world with its own address - to which countless people from across the world have written in hopes of finding love.

CHARLES PILLER

DOCTORED
FAKERY, HUBRIS, AND TRAGEDY
IN THE QUEST TO CURE ALZHEIMER'S
CHARLES PILLER

The book will tell the full behind-the-scenes story of the hunt to cure this insidious and chilling illness. It is a shocking tale to be sure.

Charles Piller's book DOCTORED explores the hype, fraud and tragedy in the search for a cure for Alzheimer's disease. In September 2022, two pharmaceutical companies announced that a new drug, lecanemab, slowed cognitive decline in Alzheimer's patients. However, this advance was exaggerated, as the actual benefit of the drug is minimal and carries significant risks.

The book reveals how the amyloid hypothesis, which holds that amyloid proteins cause Alzheimer's, has dominated research for decades, often at the expense of other promising theories.

DOCTORED also features visionary researchers who propose promising alternative approaches to treating Alzheimer's, highlighting the need to diversify research and funding to advance the fight against this devastating disease.

EVERYTHING IS TUBERCULOSIS

THE HISTORY AND PERSISTENCE OF OUR DEADLIEST INFECTION

JOHN GREEN

John tells Henry's story, woven through with the scientific and social histories of how tuberculosis has shaped our world.

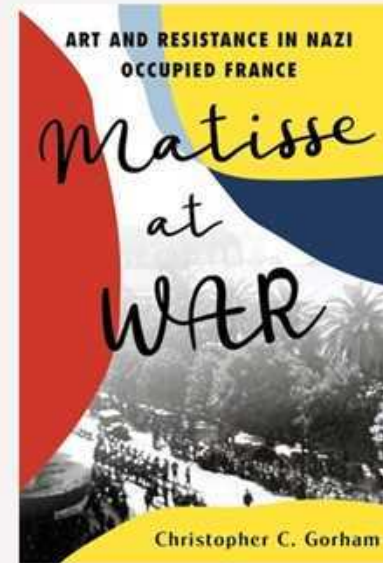

Tuberculosis has been entwined with humanity for millennia. Once romanticized as a malady of poets, today tuberculosis is a disease of poverty that walks the trails of injustice and inequity we blazed for it. In 2019, John Green met Henry, a young tuberculosis patient in Sierra Leone. John became fast friends with Henry. In the years since that first visit to Lakka, Green has become a vocal and dynamic advocate for increased access to treatment and wider awareness of the healthcare inequities that allow this curable, treatable infectious disease to also be the deadliest, killing 1.5 million people every year.

MATISSE AT WAR

CHRISTOPHER GORHAM

Spotlighting the years during WWII when Henri Matisse and his family defiantly refused to evacuate Nazi-occupied France.

The first book to explore the crucial role of Henri Matisse's family in the French Resistance during WWII, and how Matisse used art as an act of cultural defiance. As France fell to Nazi occupation, Matisse faced personal turmoil—his marriage was ending, he was plagued by doubts about his work, and he battled a near-fatal illness. While many fled, he chose to stay. Meanwhile, his family fought in the Resistance: his estranged wife aided the Communist underground, his daughter risked her life as an activist, and his sons helped Jewish artists escape and hid British agents. Even his students and grandson secretly opposed the Germans. Their courage came at great cost, but their defiance left an indelible mark on history.

DIFFICULT GIRLS

VERONICA BANE

A teen girl's attempt at social reinvention takes a deadly turn when a co-worker disappears—and she learns she may have been the last person to see the missing girl.

Greta Riley Green is desperate for a fresh start after a mysterious incident last year left her hiding too many secrets. A summer job at Hyper Kid Magic Land, the local amusement park, seems like the perfect escape.

When she catches the attention of Mercy Goodwin, the star of the park's most popular show, Greta finally feels like she belongs. But after a late-night party, Mercy confides in her and promises to share a secret—only to vanish the next day without a trace. Greta can't shake the feeling that something is terribly wrong.

As she digs deeper into Mercy's disappearance, she uncovers the park's dark history—one filled with eerie disappearances and tragic ends. But the more she searches for answers, the more her own past threatens to resurface. What was meant to be a quiet summer job is turning into something far more dangerous, and Greta is about to learn that Hyper Kid's secrets may be deadlier than she ever imagined.

THE LIBRARY OF LOST GIRLS

KRISTEN PIPPS

When her sister returns from finishing school a total stranger, a teen seeks out the cause and discovers that the cost of becoming a perfect lady is much higher—and sinister—than ever expected.

Gwen Donovan idolizes her rebellious older sister, Izzy. But when Izzy returns from the Delphi School for Girls, she is a completely different person—docile, dull, and eager to marry. Desperate to uncover what happened, Gwen schemes her way into the mysterious school. Located on a remote, icy island, Delphi is nothing like a typical finishing school. Sinister shadows haunt the halls, students keep eerie secrets, and strict rules forbid leaving rooms after dark. Most unsettling of all are the thousands of books bearing the names of former students—books the girls are forbidden to read. When Gwen finds a hidden note from Izzy, she realizes something terrifying is happening at Delphi. The school is changing the girls, and the key to its dark secret lies within those forbidden books. If Gwen doesn't uncover the truth, she may lose more than just her sister—she may lose herself.

When Jackson Bright wears a dress to the last day of school, he expects to be complimented on the cute polka dot design. Instead, he gets sent to the principal's office. Jackson doesn't know why people are saying that he needs to "dress like a boy." And with all the discussions of "dressing like a boy" and "dressing like a girl," he wonders where people like his best friend Eva, who's nobinary, fit into all of this. Or why he felt so confident and happy while wearing that dress. So when Jackson sees a flyer for the town's beloved Little Miss pageant, he comes up with a plan: dress in drag in order to compete and show the town just how fabulous he can be! Before he knows it, he's thrust into a world of rhinestone gowns and fiercely applied makeup. As he navigates the ups and downs of the competition—all while keeping his real identity a secret.

She's part of an eccentric family who has hidden a centuries-old agricultural secret. Although every member of the Gartner is exceptional, Maggie often feels like the exception. That's going to change when Maggie cooks her first dinner and proves she's just as Gartner as everyone else. But in the shadow of her growth, a mysterious stranger moves to town, putting the Gartners at risk of losing everything. With the help of new kid, Graham, as well as trusty townsfolk and family folklore, Maggie must dig deep to see what others can't, especially buried truths that feel just beyond her reach.

The Aerimander is an action-packed fantasy adventure about a powerful magical creature, those who would seek to exploit it, and those who are willing to protect it at all cost.

This book is the first of a planned duology.

THE LAST EMBER

THE AERIMANDER #1

LILY DODD

Wings of Fire meets The Mysterious Benedict Society in this epic, fast-paced upper-middle-grade fantasy full of dragon-like creatures, heroic hijinks, battle-forged friendships, and sharp humor.

One early October night, an unlikely pair meet under extraordinary circumstances ...Eva is a wealthy chemistry student who unwittingly comes into possession of a dead man's treasure, a rare aerimander egg. And Dusty is a bold and desperate orphan who's tasked to steal it for the Thieves' Union. Since most people believe aerimanders are extinct, it turns out the egg may be more valuable than gold. Once fully grown, these dragon-like creatures breathe deadly flame that can level entire cities and destroy world orders. Initially at odds, Eva and Dusty must come together to keep the creature out of the wrong hands. As this duo races against time, their fates and that of the whole kingdom are at stake. Because none of them know the answer to the question they're all asking: What happens when the egg hatches?

THE LIBRARY OF CURIOSITIES

JENNY LUNDQUIST

For anyone who has ever dreamt about wandering around the Hogwarts Library. This is a book full of magic and mystery that will allow your imagination to run wild.

After being expelled from her boarding school, eleven-year-old Rowan Fitzgerald travels to Fitzgerald Manor to live with her secretive, estranged grandfather, only to discover that the library he runs is filled with magical objects called curiosities. Rowan loves everything about the library.

When curiosities start disappearing and suspicion falls upon Rowan she sets out to clear her name before her grandfather sends her away again. She discovers her family and their arch-enemy have been engaged in a centuries-long feud to recover a powerful curiosity called the Everheart, a magical object that can spin the user forward in time. Little does Rowan know, the Everheart is closer to her than she could ever imagine—and that she'll have to fight forces both within and without the library to keep from losing everything she holds dear.

Copper-crafter Farren Walsh dreams of becoming a dragon veterinarian, but first, she needs to win a scholarship to escape the clutches of those who exploit dragons for their valuable metal. Chief among them is arrogant dragon racer James Murphy, whose silver-crafting family embodies the greed she despises.

When James lands an internship at Farren's family's dragon sanctuary, tensions flare. His presence threatens everything Farren holds dear, including Nity, the last gold-plated dragon hidden beneath the sanctuary. But after James saves Nity's newborn hatchlings, Farren realizes there's more to him than she thought. Now, they must put aside their rivalry to protect Nity and her brood. But their fragile alliance risks drawing attention from James's family, endangering the dragons they're trying to save.

Ages 10 and Up.

A hilariously unconventional adventure with out-of-order chapters and a twisty, unexpected narrative.

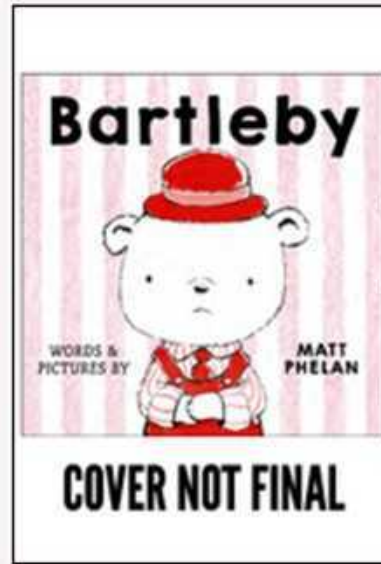

A POTION, A POWDER, A LITTLE BIT OF MAGIC

PHILIP C. STEAD

A young goatkeeper sets out on a misadventurous rescue mission in this uproarious debut novel, perfect for fans of Kate DiCamillo and Lemony Snicket.

In a kingdom ruled by a capricious king, the castle rests on the backs of twenty-four goats, and the welfare of those goats rests on the back of a girl called Bernadette. So when one goat escapes, it's up to her to bring it home. Her task may be straightforward, but this book is anything but.

The chapters are all out of order. And the ending may prove to have been the beginning. Award-winning picture book author and illustrator Philip Stead makes a confident debut as a novelist in one-of-a-kind illustrated tale, full of running gags, broken fourth walls, and underdog triumph.

With a touch of sweet LGBTQ+ romance, Goat Magic is a fantasy-adventure that will speak to fans of shapeshifting adventures like Wolfwalkers and Mooncakes and of worldbuilding with an immersive fairy tale flavor.

Trill and Alya are poised for different futures in the Kingdom of Capeya. Trill dreams of a life beyond tending her giant goat Meg and the rest of the rowdy, smelly herd. Alya, on the other hand, is next in line to the throne—or she would be, if she hadn't mysteriously transformed into a goat shortly after assassins attacked her mom.

Luckily Alya blunders into Trill, whose intuitive "goat magic" makes her a perfect traveling companion for a princess who desperately needs to get back to the palace. Alya doesn't want to be queen. Trill doesn't want to be an especially talented goatherd. But as the girls' uneasy partnership gives way to deeper understanding, friendship, and perhaps something more, both girls find the courage to honor their destinies while staying true to themselves.

A summoning ritual gone awry kicks off a lush, witchy graphic novel series with joyful streaks of found family and polyamorous sapphic romance.

Thirteen years after a mysterious fire killed her mother and twin sister, Camille Severin is forced to return to her family's swamp-side manor in Louisiana. Bound by tradition and the demands of her ruthless Aunt Athalie, she must complete a demon-summoning blood ritual to prove herself as a Severin witch.

But when Camille attempts the ritual, she doesn't summon a demon—her blood instead calls forth vines and leaves. Terrified of what this means, she flees into the swamp, unknowingly setting herself on a path of self-discovery. With time away from her aunt, she finds solace in her familiar, Toben, and her kind cousin, Silvia. As she unravels the truth of her magic, she also uncovers long-buried family secrets, falls in love, and pieces together the mystery of who really killed her mother and sister.

SILENCED VOICES

PABLO LEON

Pablo Leon crafts a powerful tale of family and survival, blending history and personal experience.

Langley Park, Maryland, 2013. Brothers Jose and Charlie know very little about their mother's life in Guatemala, until Jose grows curious about the ongoing genocide trial of Efraim Rios Montt. At first his mother, Clara, shuts his questions down. But as the trial progresses, she begins to open up to her sons about a time in her life that she's left buried for years.

Peten, Guatemala, 1982. Sisters Clara and Elena hear about the armed conflict every day, but the violence somehow seems far away from their small village. But the day the fight comes to their doorstep, the sisters are separated and are forced to flee through the mountains, leaving them to wonder...Have their paths diverged forever?

This book is the perfect blend between cozy and spooky, lovely exploration of grief with a sweet romance subplot.

The Ghostkeeper is addressed to YA readers, but it deals with such universal and transversal themes such as loss, grief and mental health.

Set in an imaginary Scotland at the end of the 19th century, you will love the main character, Dorian Leith, a queer ghost therapist that helps them healing their pain and moving on from the world of the living.

THE GHOSTKEEPER

JOHANNA TAYLOR

Perfect for fans of Lockwood & Co to The Haunting of Hill House, this gothic YA graphic novel follows a young medium with the gift—or curse—to communicate with the dead.

Dorian Leith can see ghosts. Not only that, but he also listens to their problems and tries to help them move on to the afterlife. It's a gift that's made him an outcast to everyone in town.

Then one day, the key to Death's Door is stolen, trapping all the ghosts in the land of the living. Since he's only one who can see them, the spirits rely on Dorian to retrieve the key before it is too late. If they can't move on, they'll soon be consumed by a ghostly rot that has begun to plague them.

As it continues to fester and spread, and the ghosts become desperate for relief, Dorian must do whatever it takes to find a way to bring peace to the restless dead—even if that peace comes at the cost of his own....

THE HISTORY OF EVERYTHING

VICTORIA EVANS

This wonderful graphic novel follows two teen girls trying to hold tight to their friendship while boys and family obligations get in the way

Daisy and Agnes have always had each other. And that's all they've ever needed. So when Agnes's mom drops the bombshell that they are moving at the end of the summer, the girls are crushed.

All seems lost until the pair unearth "The History of Everything," an old friendship scrapbook with the ultimate bucket list to make their last summer together unforgettable. But when Daisy starts dating a charming drummer, her social calendar suddenly has less room for her best friend.

Insecurities bubble to the surface, and Daisy and Agnes begin to question if their friendship is meant to last the summer, much less forever.

A FATE SO COLD

AMANDA FOODY & C.L.

HERMAN

Two chosen ones with one choice:
the world or each other.

In Alderland, the legendary wand Valmordion, feared for its immense power, awakens only when disaster is near. For the first time in over two centuries, it chooses a wielder—Domenic Barrow, a young man who has sworn never to seek power. Horrified by the responsibility, he wants nothing to do with it. Meanwhile, Ellery Caldwell, who has dedicated her life to earning a wand to protect her country, is devastated that Valmordion chose someone she sees as unworthy. Determined to prove herself, she accomplishes the impossible—creating a brand-new wand, something no magician has done in living memory.

Now the two most powerful magicians in Alderland, Domenic and Ellery must work together to uncover the looming catastrophe and stop it. But as magical disasters intensify and political tensions rise, they each come to a terrifying realization: Domenic believes Ellery is the cataclysm, while Ellery believes it is Domenic. To fulfill their destinies and save Alderland, one of them may have to kill the other.

The press are dead, the public calls for justice, vampires are in danger, and amid the turmoil, the Ram announces a celebration. Still reeling from the bloodshed, Arthie Casimir has no time to mourn the death of anyone, let alone her own. She has no time for love, either, but it had saved her life. As Arthie navigates new emotions and new allies, she must reassemble her scrambled crew and scrape what little they have left to fight one last time – and she will need to face the ghosts of her past to do it. In Ceylan. After the jaw-dropping ending of #1 bestselling A Tempest of Tea, Arthie and her crew still have plenty of hearts to break and crimson-red secrets to uncover. Where Wuthering Heights meets The Cruel Prince in the new Celtic-inspired erotic fantasy romance from Sunday Times bestselling author S.T. Gibson.

For as long as Adam can remember, the legends passed down from his world-traveling grandfather have called him to a crumbling manor in the Highlands. His closest friend Nicola longs for the same adventure, as well as for Adam himself. She'll follow him just about anywhere -even to the remote wilds of Scotland-if it pushes the pair to surrender to their shared attraction. But when a storm strikes and strands them unexpectedly, Adam and Nicola find themselves at the mercy of the eccentric owner of the infamous house, Eileen, as well as her brooding groundskeeper, Finley. Trapped by the weather, and bound by ancient faery magic, Nicola and Adam get more than they bargained for as they become entangled in Eileen and Finley's world of mind games, deceit and forbidden desire. As ancestral sins are unearthed, Adam and Nicola will have to reckon with the spell Eileen and Finley have cast over them - and whether or not they even want to be free.

THE AUSTEN AFFAIR

MADELINE BELL

Outlander meets Bridget Jones's Diary in Jane Austen's Regency England.

Tess Bright grew up in a messy apartment watching Jane Austen flicks with her mom. When Mom passes away and Tess lands a breakout role as the female lead in a Northanger Abbey adaptation, she emerges from her grief cocoon. One big problem? Her upsettingly handsome castmate, Hugh Balfour, whose acting methodology allows no room to collaborate with a go-with-the-flow Tess.

When sparks fly between them and an electrical accident zaps the pair to the Regency era, Tess and Hugh must learn to cooperate and find their way back home. Soon, they're faking an engagement to misdirect the neighbors' suspicions about their sudden arrival in country society.

The couple is swept into a comedy worthy of Austen herself. Tess never thought she could fall for anyone as uptight as Hugh but she realizes she might have misjudged him.
